MEMORANDUM FOR: All Intelligence Directorate Employees
SUBJECT : Results of DDI Attitudinal Survey

1. I appreciate the large response to the attitudinal survey conducted during November 1975. Seventy-three percent of the questionnaires given out were completed and returned.

2. The attached report contains the Directorate and office basic statistics expressed in terms of percentage responses to the questions. In evaluating these percentages, the Psychological Services Staff considers a negative response higher than twenty-five percent as indicating an area requiring further attention.

3. The report highlights some problems which will require additional analysis and review prior to taking positive action; these include communication, career development, the review process, etc. Other problems surfaced are well known to me and have been objects of repeated efforts, such as office locations outside the Headquarters building, space, heating, etc. Regardless, I assure all concerned we will take the actions available to solve problems reflected in the report.
